HP UCMDB Content Pack Release Notes

This document provides information about HP Universal CMDB (UCMDB) and Discovery Content Pack 14.0.

What's New in Content Pack 14.00

This section provides information about new features and enhancements to Content Pack 14.00.

- Discovery of Oracle 12c, Windows 8.1 and Windows Server 2012 R2, IIS 7.x, and 8.x.
- Support for VMware ESXi/vCenter 5.5 and NetApp 8.x.
- Discovery of Fiber Channel HBAs on AIX, HP-UX, Linux, SunOS, VMware ESX, and Windows systems.
- Discovery of ODBC connections for IIS applications.
- Bi-directional integration with ServiceNow.

System Requirements

- CP 14 can only be installed on UCMDB 10.11.
- You must install UCMDB 10.11 before installing CP 14.

Important Note: Before you deploy Content Pack 14.0, you must install version 10.11 on the UCMDB, UD, and CM servers, and deploy version 10.11 Data Flow Probes. Do not deploy Content Pack 14.0 while you are still updating the Data Flow Probes.

For a complete list of system requirements, see the HP Universal CMDB Support Matrix document available from the UCMDB Online Help home page.

Content Pack Installation

The following procedure explains how to install Content Pack 14.00 for HP Universal CMDB.

Note: Rolling back the installation is not supported as it can lead to system inconsistencies. If you are upgrading from earlier versions of the content pack, it is strongly recommended to ensure that you have backed up your database.

1. Prerequisites

- The UCMDB Server must be running when you install the Content Pack.
- During installation, Setup may restart the Probe to load the new content jar file.

2. Retrieve the Content Pack 14.00 ZIP file

The name of the installation file is CP14_installation.zip. This file is located on the HP Live Network Web site (<https://hpln.hp.com/>).

The ZIP file contains the following resources:

- Packages
- Online help
- The HP Universal CMDB Discovery and Integration Content Guide PDF files.
- Permissions.pdf

3. Extract packages from the Content Pack 14.00 ZIP file

Unpack the contents of the ZIP file to C:\hp\UCMDB\UCMDBServer.

4. Back up existing packages

- a. Launch a Web browser and enter the following address:

http://<FQDN or IP address>:8080/jmx-console

where <FQDN or IP address> is the machine on which UCMDB is installed. Log in using the JMX console authentication credentials.

- b. Click the UCMDB:service=Packaging Services link.
- c. In the JMX MBEAN View page, locate the following JMX function: exportPackages ().
 - In the customerID field, enter 1.
 - In the packagesNames field, leave this field empty to export all packages.
 - In the outputDir field, enter the full path to a directory where UCMDB should place the backed-up packages, for example, C:\hp\UCMDB\UCMDBServer\content\my_packages_backup. The directory is created automatically.
 - In the userOnly field, select False to export all packages (and not only the user-created packages).
- d. Click Invoke.

- e. Verify that all relevant packages have been backed up to the folder mentioned in the previous step, and that there are no errors in the mam.packaging.log file, located in hp\UCMDB\UCMDBServer\runtime\log.

5. Install Content Pack 14.00

You can install the Content Pack from the HP Universal CMDB user interface or using the JMX Console.

From HP Universal CMDB:

- a. Log in to the UCMDB.
- b. Access the Package Manager (Administration > Package Manager).
- c. On the toolbar, click the Install Content Pack button.
- d. In the Install Content Pack dialog box that opens, select the required version of the Content Pack and click Install.

Using the UCMDB JMX Console:

- a. Log in to the UCMDB JMX-Console (<ucmdb-server>:8080/jmx-console).
- b. Open UCMDB > Content Pack Services.
- c. Invoke displayAvailableContentPackVersions to see available versions of the Content Pack.
- d. Enter the required version in the version field, and invoke installContentPack.

6. Verify installation

Verify that there are no errors in the mam.packaging.log file, located in hp\UCMDB\UCMDBServer\runtime\log.

7. If you are installing the Content Pack on a High Availability system, copy all files from the following folder on the active UCMDB server to the same folder on the passive UCMDB server: C:\hp\UCMDB\UCMDBServer\runtime\fcmdb\CodeBase.

Discovery Knowledge Content

Discovery Knowledge content updates are regularly released by Hewlett-Packard and contain Discovery Rules content files and Software Application Index (SAI) content files. All content updates that were included in HP Discovery and Dependency Mapping Inventory content updates are also included in Universal Discovery.

Discovery Rules contain information to identify hardware devices in your environment. Discovery Rules determine the device's operating system, application, device family, and model. Then, the Discovery Rules Engine assigns a device type to your device model.

SAI files contain information to identify applications on a discovery node. Universal Discovery employs a number of installed software application recognition techniques, including file-based recognition, version data, and installed package rule-based recognition. The data that is required for this recognition to work is stored in the application library files (SAI).

Recently released content that is currently included in this version of Universal Discovery can be found on the Universal Discovery Community (<https://hpln.hp.com//group/universal-discovery/>) Web site on the HP Live Network.

Note: You need an HP Passport user name and password to log in to this site.

Content Pack Notes and Limitations

Notes

- ODBC connections on Windows servers that are related to IIS applications can now be discovered.
- The IIS Applications by NTCMD or UDA job can now use the WebAdministration PowerShell module to discover IIS.
- Fibre Channel HBAs can now be discovered by the Host Resources by Shell and Host Applications by Shell jobs.
- The knownListeningPorts parameter in the Host Applications by Shell job enables you to specify which ports will be listening ports on the client side when performing discovery. This enables two applications that are discovered by different probes to be linked by the IP Service Endpoint.
- For all TCP Ports jobs (TCP Ports, Databases TCP Ports, SAP TCP Ports, and JEE TCP Ports), only ports on which a port name has been assigned to it in the ports or UDPports parameter of the job and which are marked as 'discoverable' (isDiscovered=1) in the portNumberToPortName.xml configuration file are discovered.

- For all TCP Ports jobs (TCP Ports, Databases TCP Ports, SAP TCP Ports, and JEE TCP Ports), only ports on which a port name has been assigned to it in the ports or UDPports parameter of the job and which are marked as 'discoverable' (isDiscovered=1) in the portNumberToPortName.xml configuration file are discovered.
- All jobs supporting IPv6 can be listed in the JMX Console by going to:

UCMDB JMX > UCMDB:service=Discovery Manager > getIPv6SupportedDiscoveryJobNames

Limitations

- Child CIs are no longer included in reconciliation rules when considering identification for Business Applications. An optional identifier based on the ID (App_ID) can be used to uniquely identify each Business Application CI. Business Applications that are synced from external sources must have a unique name or ID in order to be included during data synchronization. Note that multiple Business Applications with the same name and no ID will not be synchronized.

Additional CI types for which child CIs are no longer included in reconciliation rules are Business Process, Business Service, CI Collection, Business Transaction Flow, and Dynamic Node Group. No optional identifier can be specified for these CI types.

- Data population into UCMDB using ServiceNow integration jobs fail because a package called "suds" is missing. To fix this issue, download and install a patch on the Data Flow Probe to supply the missing package as follows:
 - a. Download the ServiceNow_pull_integration_patch.zip file from the <UCMDB_installation_folder>\DataFlowProbe\runtime\probeManager\discoveryResources\Service-Now-Pull folder.
 - b. Extract the patch archive into the Data Flow Probe's installation folder. As a result, the <Probe_installation_folder>/jython/suds folder is created, and two files (<Probe_installation_folder>/jython/httpplib.py and <Probe_installation_folder>/jython/urllib2.py) are updated. You do not need to restart the Data Flow Probe.
- The vCloud Director by vCloud API and vCloud Director URL by vCloud API do not automatically discover VMware vCloud, because the httpcore.jar and httpclient.jar files no longer exist in the <Probe>/content/lib folder. To fix this issue, copy the httpcore.jar and httpclient.jar files from the <Probe>/discoveryResources/http folder to the <Probe>/content/lib folder.
- The Storage Essentials discovery adapter hard codes the name of the database as APPIQ. With Storage Essentials 9.7, users can customize the database name. Due to this issue, integration to Storage Essentials 9.7 will not work. Contact HP Customer Support to fix this issue.
