Chapter 7: Suggested Custom Guides

Caution: This section applies to the old “customizable” documentation library only.

Note: PPM Center version 9.30 introduced a new framework for the PPM Documentation Library, which does not support customization. However, you can still customize your own documentation library by switching back to the old framework. The customizable documentation library is still placed under the `<PPM_Home>/pdf/` directory. For more information, see Customizing the Standard Interface.

Your PPM Center administrator can create custom documents that are specific to your organization's implementation of PPM Center and make them accessible from the Documentation Library page. Typical administrator-created document topics could include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Lists of PPM Center contacts
- Processes and procedures for using PPM Center
- PPM Center training presentations
- Guidelines for PPM Center application configuration and administration
